

RESOURCE GUIDE

for Post-Secondary Students from Government Care

FEDERATION OF BC YOUTH
IN CARE
NETWORKS

BY COMING TOGETHER, WE'RE NOT ALONE

WELCOME

This is a resource guide for post-secondary students from government care! This guide was created by your siblings from care at the Federation of BC Youth in Care Networks (the Fed). We're a youth-driven, provincial non-profit organization dedicated to improving the lives of youth in and from care in BC.

We know that working toward your post-secondary education is a huge undertaking. It can be overwhelming and challenging at times, and it can be hard to know where to get help when you need it. With contributed content from youth-serving organizations and agencies around BC, we've put together a handy collection of accessible and affordable resources, supports and services available to students in and from care.

Our hope is that in difficult times, your resource guide will remind you that you're not alone and that help is available to you.

Who is this guide for?

This resource guide is for students in the Lower Mainland. The location of each agency is listed, but many offer services across BC as well as in their own communities.

Organizations with this icon have services available even if you don't live or go to school in their listed location.

Where else can I find support?

If you can't find an agency that can help you, please don't hesitate to connect with someone at the Fed! Find our contact info on our website at <https://fbcyicn.ca/contact-us>

Most post-secondary schools have student support workers, student services centres or financial aid offices you can reach out to if you need help. Some schools even have navigators who specifically work with students with care experience.

At the end of this guide, you can find a list of key contacts of some post-secondary schools around BC that you can reach out to if you need help and aren't sure where to start.
